SERVICES: Extra support in understanding math concepts, or completing math homework, and study sessions for test preparation. This is open to all levels of math.

PROCEDURES:

1. Teachers and/or parents can recommend this service based on needs. If a teacher feels a child would benefit from extra practice on a concept at any given time, they will contact the parents.
2. Parents need to email Bryan (1470048@lfschools.net) or Mrs. Paull (lpaul@lfschools.net) the day before their child is planning on attending so we know to look for them and can sufficiently accommodate the number of students that attend.
3. Students will be split into small groups based on grade level and classes so each group will be covering the same topic.
4. Bryan will email teachers as needed to keep them informed about who attended, what they covered, and how well the students were able to grasp the topic they were working on. This way teachers can also inform Bryan what needs to be focused on for future dates.
5. Any questions contact either Bryan or Mrs. Paull
